How is it already August? The NBA season is just a couple months away and even though offseason action has been starting to die down, there are still guaranteed to be plenty of NBA news and rumors around this time. Use the comments section below to talk anything you think might warrant discussion.

The Suns should be introducing Gerald Green and Miles Plumlee sometime soon so look out for that. Also, the much-awaited jersey reveal will reportedly be sometime this month. The team keeps revealing more and more sneak peeks, so feel free to post the links as you see any updates.

What else is new in the NBA?
